922 KAR 2:090. Section 10. Director Requirements and Responsibilities. (1) A director shall: (l) Assume the health, safety, and comfort of each child;
Findings: General: Based on interview, and documentation, it was found that although preventative measures had been put in place, the facility failed to provide for the health, safety, and comfort of a two-year-old child in care. During the investigation, it was found that a two-year-old child who has severe wheat and gluten food allergies was able to gain access to a breadstick and put it in his mouth. On 8-24-18, the child was transitioned from the younger two-year-old classroom to the older two-year-old classroom. The rooms are almost identical in layout except for the absence of a gate between the play area and snack area of the older two-year-old classroom. During interview, it was found that on 8-27-18, one staff person was washing the hands of the children and putting away nap mats while the other staff person was changing pull-ups in the open bathroom with her back to the snack area. The snacks had been laid out on the table just prior to this time. The staff person in the play area yelled the child's name when she saw him with the breadstick and the other staff person spun around and grabbed the plate and breadstick away from the child. The breadstick had reportedly been chewed on, but none of it was bitten off. Both staff were aware of the child's allergies and stated that the child went to where his seat for snack would have been located in the younger two-year-old classroom. Since the incident, the child's seat for meals has been marked with colored tape, his picture and a special diet sign. His seat at the table has also been moved to the same location it was in when he was part of the younger two-year-old classroom. Following the incident, the child was taken to the hospital. He was given a .15mg epi-pen injection by his mother on the way to the hospital due to ear, nose and lip swelling with facial hives and cough. A review of the final discharge summary found that once at the hospital, he was given 10mg of decadron (a corticosteroid), 12.5mg of Benadryl and an additional .2 mg of epinephrine. He was kept overnight for observation due to persistent hives and wheezing. It should be noted that on 7-2-18, this same child was given Cheez-Its for snack and was hospitalized. This incident was investigated on 7-11-18 under the inspection number 245785.
