During this delay, the child had a bowel movement on herself. The child finally entered the restroom and was not assisted by the teacher. She played in the feces, smearing it on the toilet and the floor. The child then locked the restroom stall preventing the staff person, Ms. Ingram, from intervening. Ms. Ingram stated that she lost control of the situation. When the child decided to exit the restroom, her body and clothing were further soiled with fecal matter presenting a detriment to her health and comfort.
